UPDATES FROM THE MUNICIPALITY

New Metering Technology Reveals Potential Water Losses

The Village's investment in advanced water metering infrastructure is already delivering results. New flow meters installed throughout the water system are helping staff better understand how water moves through the distribution network and identify areas where water may be lost before reaching customers.

Preliminary data collected during overnight low-demand periods suggests that leaks may account for more than 50% of the water produced by the Harvey Treatment Plant. While further investigation is required to confirm the extent and location of these leaks, these initial findings demonstrate why the Village's metering program is such a critical investment.

By providing accurate flow data throughout the system, these new meters are helping detect leaks, improve operational decision-making, prioritize infrastructure renewal, and support the long-term sustainability of the Village's water supply.
The installation of residential water meters, scheduled to begin this Monday, will generate additional data to further support informed decision-making.

Effective management of a finite water supply begins with understanding where water is being produced, consumed, and lost. The information now being collected is helping staff and Council protect the Village's long-term water security and maximize the value of existing infrastructure investments.

Solid Waste Collection Delay

Please be advised that today's solid waste collection was delayed due to an unexpected truck malfunction experienced by our collection contractor.

The issue has been addressed, and crews are working to complete all remaining collections today. However, due to the delay, service will extend beyond the regular schedule and is expected to continue into the evening.

If your waste has not yet been collected, please leave your bins at the curb until collection is completed.

We appreciate your patience and understanding as crews work to finish today's route.
