Will you be resilient in the aftermath of a quake?

The recent earthquake in Turkey and Syria Reminds us to Be Prepared!

It's only a matter of time before a major earthquake hits the south coast of British Columbia, not if. We've enjoyed a period of relative earthquake quiet — a 1.5 here, a 4.0 there — but statistically speaking, it won't last. The Cascadia Subduction Zone is more than capable of the same level of seismic activity that produced a deadly 7.8 quake that devastated parts of Turkey and Syria and killed thousands this week.

Their devastation is a call to us to do what we can to be prepared. You and your household should be self-sufficient for 3 days at the minimum though it's a good idea to have at least one to two weeks of supplies on hand. Make sure everything is stored together in an accessible location.

For more information on Earthquake Preparedness, visit the Provincial Government's website HERE.

Finally, if you're able to help those in Turkey and Syria — donate to the Red Cross and your contribution will be matched by the Canadian Government. Click HERE to donate.
