Provincial Alert Testing Tomorrow Update from Emergency Program Coordinator

The province of British Columbia will be participating in a test of the Emergency Alert Ready system on Wednesday, November 15th at 1:55 PM. Alert Ready is Canada's emergency alerting system and it delivers critical and potentially life-saving alerts to Canadians through television, radio and LTE-connected and compatible wireless devices.

The Alert ready system is conducting two surveys after this test to determine effectiveness and improve on service. One is to improve the accessibility of the service and the other is a general public survey. Consider participating in the surveys so the system can continue to improve.

Information regarding Alert Ready and this test can be found at <https://www.alertready.ca/> and <https://www.alertready.ca/testing-schedule/> .

This test is run by the province and not Lions Bay. If this was a real emergency broadcast on the Alert Ready system, local information would follow and be provided to residents through Alertable, email and social media.
