UPDATES FROM MUNICIPALITY

Please be advised that Environment and Climate Change Canada and River Forecast Centre expect the upcoming weather event to be significant and challenging.

Over the next three days, rainfall amounts combined with rising freezing levels will produce rain on snow melting conditions leading to extreme stream flows. In addition, winds from 50-80 km/h are expected.

Please prepare your house by cleaning eaves and watching for water ingress around foundations. Secure objects that may be blown about by the wind. Stay well away from stream beds both in the village and while hiking. Keep pets away from creeks.
