

Adam Solheim has called Lions Bay home for over seven years, with his wife, two daughters, who attend(ed) Lions Bay Elementary, in-laws and dog Tina. A Professional Engineer and Project Manager with over 20 years of experience delivering projects, Adam brings a measured, composed approach to problem-solving. Someone who listens first, then acts, weighing the facts while understanding what matters most to the people around him.

Adam is running for council because he believes Lions Bay deserves genuine, thoughtful collaboration and clear communication, with a vision for the village to adapt without losing what makes it a true community: neighbours who actually know each other, and the sense that we're all in this together.

His priorities for council reflect that same approach. On climate action and sustainability, Adam wants to safeguard the village's water supply, reduce forest fire risk, strengthen emergency preparedness, and improve the community's understanding of geotechnical and geohazard risks. On infrastructure, he's focused on prioritizing the maintenance and upgrades that will improve quality of life for current and future generations. And on community identity, he believes decisions should be made by listening to residents first, so the future of Lions Bay reflects what this community actually believes in.

At the core of Adam's campaign is a commitment to integrity, collaboration, and accountability, bringing the same operational discipline he uses every day to how the village is run: clear processes, transparent decisions, and spending that's accountable to the people who live here.

Lions Bay, forever.

Cheers,

Adam Solheim
